While Superintendent Walling was sitting in his room at the Central Office Sunday about noon he heard newsboys crying "extras" a block or two away. He immediately shouted down the tube to the telegraph office: "Stop the yelling of newspapers in the streets. I can hear it half a mile away." This order was dispatched to the various precincts throughout the city A TRIBUNE reporter asked the Superintendent yesterday the reason for his action. ING OF RELIGIOUS GATHERINGS.

precincts throughout the city A Tribune reporter asked the Superintendent yesterday the reason for his action.

"The crying of 'extras,'" he replied, "or any noise that disturbs religious worship is against the law and can be stopped. The statute forbids the making of any noise that may disturb a congregation on the Sabbath. You cannot play on a piano in your own house next door to a church if it annoys the congregation. Ever since the organization of the Government the disturbing of religious worship has been forbidden by statute. Stopping the crying of newspapers on Sunday is no new thing. When John A. Kennedy was Superintendent of Police he would not let the papers be cried at all on any day of the week, aithough I do not know what law can be had for that."

"On what law do you act?"

"I can find it for you. Here it is, Section 64; Article 7, in reference to the disturbance of religious worship: No person shall wilfully disturb or interrupt or disquiet any assembly of people met for religious worship, by profane discourse, by inde-ent behavior, or by making a noise either within the place of worship or so near it as to disturb the solemnity of the meeting.' Another section says that a violation of this law may be punished, on conviction, by a fine not exceeding $25. Now, those fellows I heard yesterday were making a terrible noise, shouting at the top of their voices, and they had voices like fog-horns. If they had been going quietly along saying: 'Here's an "extra," it would have been different. On Sanday I took in a young fellow and his companion living in Eighteenth-st. I said: 'Don't yell so loud,' They became abusive and I arrested them. They were fined by the magistrate. The noise I heard yesterday was scandalous. It could have been heard half a mile away. The crying went on at the hour when people were at church, and I determined to put a stop to it."

"Do church-goors complain to you of the crying of 'extras'?"

"Yes, I am continually receiving complaints from citizeus on that score, and Mr. Atterbur mid I determined to put a stop to it."

"Do church-goers complain to you of the crying of 'extras'!"

"Yes, I am continually receiving complaints from citizens on that score, and Mr. Atterbury, of the Sabbatarian Society at the Bible House, has requested me to stop the anisance. People also complain that they have been swindled by bogus 'extras' at night, but I can't remedy that, as a man is supposed to know what he is buying. The boys woke me up Saturday night, but of course that was not a violation of the law. After September I, the new Code forbids the making of any disturbing noise on Sunday whether churches are in session or not."

"But the present law only re'ers to hours of religious worship, and your order would stop crying of 'extras' all day Sunday."

"It is true the law does not mention any particular hours, but Catholies held masses at 5 or 6 a. m., and services are sometimes held afternoons as well as evenings. If a boy is not near a church when crying the papers, he would not be interfered with, but in case of arrest it would be for the judge to decide whether he was disturbing worship in any church in the neighborhood. I don't suppose policemen would arrest boys unless they were violating the law, but the noise I heard yesterday would have disturbed a congregation a quarter of a mile away. Boys should cry' extras' in a proper manner!"

"That would be for the magistrate to decide. I cannot sit as Superintendent of Police and committing magistrate too."

RECEPTION ON A NEW STEAMSHIP.

RECEPTION ON A NEW STEAMSHIP.

RECEPTION ON A NEW STEAMSHIP.

A reception was given yesterday by the agents and officers of the Compagnie Bordelaise de Navigation a Vapeur, on board of the new iron steamship Chateau Lafitte, at Pier No. 43 North River. The line is known in shipping circles as the "Wine Line," from the fact that a large proportion of the traffic from France will be the transportation of wines. A partial description of the vessel has been published in The Tripe Tripe and the secule at style, both in regard to comfort, safety and ventilation.

A large number of prominent guests was present, and Henry Edye, of the firm of Funch, Edye & Co., agents, presided at the table. The dinner consisted of twenty courses. After the cloth was removed Mr. Edye, in behalf of the captain, welcomed the guests over a glass of Chateau Lafitte, after which the vessel was named. Mr. Edye said it was intended to have a more extended reception, but unfortunately there was such doleful news from the President's bedside that it was decided to abandon all public demonstration.

The vessel was built at Southampton, and is com-from the President's bedside that it was decided to abandon all public demonstration.

The vessel was built at Southampton, and is commanded by Captain Billard. The other officers are Licutenants Laporte, Hede, and Rabere, Commissary Forget, and Chief Engineer Robert. She will sail on her pioneer voyage on Saturday with a full cargo. Other steamships will be added as soon as constructed, as the passenger and freight business between this port and Bordeaux with the chartered vessels has exceeded anticipations. No expense is to be spared to make the her popular.

TRYING TO LEARN WHY THE WHEEL BROKE. Superintendent Sheeby was found in his office yesterday, still suffering from the sheek and bruises received by the falling of the lamps in Union Square Saturday morning. He was asked his theory of the cause of the accident, but said he had none other Saturday morning. He was asked his theory of the cause of the accident, but said he had none other than that published in The Tribune. The cogwheel in the hoisting apparatus broke, and there was nothing to hold the lamps. What made the wheel break it was impossible to tell. It might have been a flaw in the iron. It might have been a flaw in the iron. It might have been caused by an undue strain in some way, but how was not known. The reporter then went to the station and saw the wheel and broken "carriages." An expert is carefully examining all the machinery, but so far he has not succeeded in learning any sufficient cause for the breaking of the cast-iron wheel. There is little doubt that there was a flaw in the casting, and if so, a repetition of the accident may never occur. It was intended to light the Madison Square pole to-night, but Mr. Sheehy will have nothing to do with it until the cause of the failure last week has been decided. He said yesterday: "As I am the superintendent of the company, naturally all blame for the accident falls on me, and I am not willing to assume the responsibility of a possible loss of life in lighting the other pole. It may be several days before an investigation can be made. It will be two weeks, at least, before the lamps can be obtained and the "carriages" made to replace those destroyed; but probably the Fifth-ave, line will be lighted in a day or two."

C. A. BYRNE AGAIN ARRESTED.

An article in a paper called Truth some time ago accused Colonel J. A. Fuller, a well-known lawyer in Bayonne. N. J., of having improper relations with a certain woman. Colonel Fuller secured information which convinced him that Charles A. Byrne, who was connected with the paper at that time, was the author of the article, and secured his indictment for criminal libel by the Hudson County Grand Jury. Since then Byrne has kept out of the jurisdiction of the New-Jersey Courts until a short time ago, when he took up a temporary residence in one of the New-Jersey Courts until a short time ago, when he took up a temporary residence in one of the hotels at the Highlands of the Navesink. There he was arrested at a late hour on Saturday night by Contables Stanton and Foley, of District-Attorney McGill's office, who took him to Jersey City. Instead of taking him to the county jail, they permitted him to remain in the Windsor Hotel. The officers permitted their prisoner to conceal him is identity under the name of S. F. Joseph, of Philadelphia, while they registered under the names of Thomas Williams and Thomas Spencer. Yesterday foreneon, Justice Roberts, of Jersey City, succeeded in persuading ex-Freeholder Desmond to become Byrne's bondsman in the sum of $1,000, and he was released by Deputy Sheriff Cromin. In the afterneon Justice Roberts was looking for Mr. Desmond, with a view, he said, of advising him to surrender the bonds, but at that time Byrne had gone to New-York.

THE ALARM SAILS FOR WASHINGION. C. A. BYRNE AGAIN ARRESTED.

THE ALARM SAILS FOR WASHINGTON.

The torpedo ram Alarm left the Navy Yard at noon resterday for Washington, and was joined at Sandy Hook during the afternoon by her convoy, the Tallapoosa. Some years ago the Alarm made the trip to Washington with the Fowler wheel, but this will be her first sea voyage with the Mallory steering propeller, which was found during the trials on the Hudson to work with entire satisfaction, giving the vessel a speed of 11½ knots or 13½ miles an hour. This speed was attained with machinery which was built for the Fowler wheel, and it is believed that machinery can be designed which would give the Alarm 14 or 14½ knots per hour. The vessel will be taken to Washington by Lieutenant G. B. Harber, who relieved Lieutenant R. M. G. Brown on the 22d instant. The other officers are Engineers Kenyon and Kleckner, Master Reynolds, Ensign Doyle and Paymaster Sullivan, Messrs. Kleckner, Reynolds and Doyle having been assigned for duty during the present trip. At Washington small cabins will be built on both sides of the deck of the Alarm for Admiral Porter, who will raise his flag on the ship during the Yorktown celebration. The vessel was put in the dry dock at Pike-st, last week, and her machinery and bottom were thoroughly examined, and found to be in good condition. THE ALARM SAILS FOR WASHINGTON.

RULES FOR THE GRAIN TRADE. meeting of the grain trade of the Produce Exange will be held to-morrow, to consider the prosed amendments to the rules. Among the most portant is the one relating to "margins," as fol-

On all sales or purchases of grain to arrive, or for fu-ture delivery, either party to the contract shall have the right to call an original margin of 10 cents per bushel on wheat, rye and barley, and 5 cents on corn and oats, and a further margin from time to time to the extent of any variation in the market value from the contract price. When markins are called before 2 p. m. they must be deposited before 3 p. m. of the same day; if called after 2 p. m. they must be deposited before 11 4. m. of the following day. In case of failure to deposit as above, then the party calling the margin shall have the right to cover his or their contract at discretion, for account of the party falling to respond to the call for margin. In case of any failure of any bank or trust company in which such margins have been deposited, it shall be the loss of the party or parties to whom it may be found to be due, taking the average price of like deliveries on the day such bank or trust company failed as a basis of settlement.

BLINDED BY RED PEPPER.

As Charles Marshall, a salesman for the firm of Peyton & Peyton, at No. 21 East Fifteenth-st., was walking from the depot at Montclair, N. J., toward his nome on the side of the mountain, a little after 6 o'clock on Saturday evening, he saw three men on a private footpath leading up to his house. As he was about to pass one of them threw a handful of red pepper into his face. Quick. as the man's movements were, Mrs Marshall saw him raise the hand in time to close his eyes. For this reason the pepper did not blind him as much as it otherwise would have done. The two companions of the ruffian sprang at Mr. Marshall, knocked him down and succeeded in robbing him of $108.

Mr. Marshall struggled with the bobbers to his utmost, and shouted for assistance, in spite of the threats made upon his life by one of his assailants, who, in making a lunge with a knife, cut a severe gash in one of his hands. Mr. Marshall continuing his struggles, the robbers became frightened and made good their escape before they succeeded in securing his watch. The robbery created considerable alarm in the town. A reward of $100 has been oftered for the arrest of the robbers. Many men turned out and searched for them, but without result. Yesferday the case was reported to Inspector Byrnes, who detailed men to work on the case, with Constable Hilburn, of Montclair.

TRYING TO SMUGGLE MILLINERY GOODS.

Customs officers on Saturday evening made a seizure of a large quantity of millinery and fancy goods which two women attempted to smuggle into this port from he steamship Britannic. Among the passengers on board the steamer were six milliners. Two of them made declaration of dutiable goods in proper form and paid the duties; two others had no dutiable goods. The remaining two were Susan J. Demin, of No. 945 Broadway, this city, and a Miss McDonald, of Baltimore. Both made oath that they brought with them no dutiable goods. Information had been sent, however, to Special Agent Adams that an attempt was to be made to snuggle goods, and officers from the Surveyor's office were sent down to the vessel to make an examination. Three trunks belonging to Miss McDonald were found to be filled with fine laces, ribbons, silk hose, chemille mantles, plumes, kid gloves, fine brushes and a large number of other articles.

It was noticed by the officers that a woman, evidently a saleswoman, went on board the ship to meet Miss Dennin. She went to Miss Dennin's stateroom and was about to go away again when Mrs. Jenny Ferris, one of the regular customs inspectors, stopped her and insisted on examining her clothing. The inspector found that while in the stateroom she bad put on a skirt belonging to Miss Dennin underneath, and in the folds of which a great quantity of women's finery had been concealed. A trunk full of brocades, ribbons and other articles of dress was also discovered. The value of the goods, which were seized and sent to the Custom House, is said to be nearly, if not quite, $3,000. There was subsequently a tearful scene between the women and the officers, which resulted in an effort to conceal the names of the women. TRYING TO SMUGGLE MILLINERY GOODS.

AN INJUNCTION AGAINST "CONEY ISLAND," AN INJUNCTION AGAINST "CONEY ISLAND."
George F. McDonald, the author of the play "Coney Island; or, Ethel's Prayer," which has been running at the Union Square Theatre, has obtained through A. J. Dittenhoefer, his attorney, an injunction from Justice Donohue, in the Supreme Court, temporarily restraining the continuance of the play, James W. Colher, the defendant, is sued for damages resulting from changes that have been made in the body of the play. Mr. McDonald claims that when the play was put into Mr. Collier's hands it was under an agreement that no material changes should be made without the approval of the author. Such changes, he avers, were nevertheless made as called out adverse criticisms from the press and made the play unpopular,
Mr. McDonald also claims that the royalty which
Mr. Collier agreed to give him has not been paid.
The order to show cause why the temporary injunction should not be made permanent is returnable on September 7.

Mr. McDonald din goaversation with a Truncou-eptember 7.

Mr. McDonald, in conversation with a Tribune All. McDonaid, in conversation with a TRIBUNE reporter last evening, said: "The play has been a success, notwithstanding the fact that it was written for the 'road' and not to be presented at a theatre like the Umon Square." Mr. Collier would only say that the piece had been a failure because of the adverse criticisms of the press.

In the meantime the Union Square Theatre remains closed.

NO YELLOW FEVER AT QUARANTINE.

Health Officer Smith stated yesterday that with the exception of two cases of bilious remittent fever, from yellow fever vessels, there is no sickness at Quarantine. All of the yellow fever patients had become convalescent and were discharged from the hospital on Sunday. Dr. Smith said that there was an erroneous impression among many people in regard to the contagiousness of yellow fever, and that it should be removed. The disease was not contagious by association with those afflicted with it simply, but could be communicated from cargo and vessels infected with the germs of the disease. Dr. Smith is very stringent in regard to vessels arriving from infected ports without bills of health. He says that it is a practice for captains not to apply for such certificates in order to save the fee, and that they hope to escape the rigid rules of quarantine here; hope to escape the rigid rules of quarantine here; but he intends to treat them as if they were infected vessels. This course he thinks not only necessary for the certain preservation of the health of the port, but also to remind captains that they will not be lemently dealt with when they fail in their du-

A FATAL SEARCH FOR MOSQUITOS.

A FATAL SEARCH FOR MOSQUITOS,
Miss Abby Loweree, age seventy-six, of No. 109
Fourth-ave., Newark, was fatally burned on Sunday night. She had been an invalid for several years, and was for the most time confined to her bed. About 9 o'clock on Sunday night, a scream was heard in her room, and her brother, Dr. Thomas Loweree, hurrying in, found her enveloped in flames. Dr. Loweree dashed a pail of water over her, and the other members of the family hastened in with pails of water and extinguished the fire, which was consuming the bed clothes and had reached the woodwork of the room. Miss Loweree was so severely burned that the skin peeled from her body. She died shortly after 3 o'clock vesterday morning. The woman had taken a kerosene lamp inside the netting of her bed to look for mosquitos, and the netting caught fire from the lamp.

SELLING FURNITURE INTRUSTED TO HIM. SELLING FURNITURE INTRUSTED TO HIM. Detective Malarkey, of the Twenty-first Precinct, yesterday arraigned before Justice Murray, in the Yorkville Police Court, Clarence C. Berry, age twenty-four, of No. 418 East Fifty-first-st., on a charge of having stolen furniture valued at several hundred dollars from No. 362 Lexington-ave., the house of Mrs. Mary F. Westerfield. Berry was employed as a cierk in the office of James M. Taylor, of No. 265 Broadway, who was Mrs. Westerfield's agent, and had charge of her house during her absence in the country. Berry was intrusted with the keys and is said to have removed the farmiture and sold it to a number of second-hand furniture dealers, by whom he has since been identified. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, and was held in $1,000 bail for trial at the Court of General Sessions.

FOUND DEAD WITH HIS HEAD IN A SINK. FOUND DEAD WITH HIS HEAD IN A SINK. James Coyle, age twenty-four, employed as night clerk in the drug store of Kobert Parsons, at Orange, N. J., was found dead by a fellow-clerk at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, standing beside a sink with his head lying in it. It was at first supposed that Coyle had died of heart disease. The County Physician, however, removed the intestines with a view of determining whether Coyle had taken poison. Coyle was formerly employed by Dr. Haydon, druggist, of Newark, and about four years ago he kicked a little boy in the hip. The boy died of his injuries. Coyle was engaged to be married to a young woman living in Newark, Mamie Cahill, and a week ago the engagement was broken off by her.

FINDING HER FATHER DEAD.

FINDING HER FATHER DEAD.

Jacob Widmer, a German gunsmith, living in the basement of a house at No. 73 Central ave., Newark, shot himself through the head at noon yesterday. He was seventy-three years of age. Widmer has been treated for Bright's disease for some time, and arrangements had been made to remove him to a hospital. Just before the shooting his daughter Bertha, who sat near him reading, observed him handling several pistols. She thought nothing of the matter, and readily obeyed him when told to go after a pitcher of water. When she returned a neighbor asked her who had fired the pistol shot. A moment afterward she found her lather lying on his back in a rear room of the house. He lived only five minutes.

DYING AFTER ATTEMPTING SUICIDE. DYING AFTER ATTEMPTING SUICIDE.

Charles Kolb, who recently sprang from a Hudson River ferryboat with the intention of committing suicide, and was rescued with difficulty, died at his home, No. 31 Greene-st. Newark, on Sunday night. His disease was softening of the brain Ten years ago a son of Mr. Kolb's committed suicide. He returned to his home in Newark from a visit to New-York, lay down on his bed, and blew out his brains with a revolver. The father was at one time a successful brewer, and amassed a fortune. He lost this and of late has been in straitened circumstances.

THE DYNAMITE PLOTTERS AT A PICNIC. When the so-called "Dynamite Convention" issued its proclamation of warning to passengers on board English vessels after September 1, it was stated that the Irish Revolutionary Club would celebrate its annual festival on August 29, and that the proclamation would then be publicly ratified by the several Irish societies in this city. The meeting was held yesterday at Jones's Wood. O'Donovan Rossa was there, and Coleman, of the Mansion House plot notoriety. There was no dynamite, no revolutionary speeches, and the only explosion was the bursting of a fat woman's corset, when she danced the Highland Fling too violently. It was said that therewas some very threatening language used in the meeting of the committee, when it was suggested that the scheme to advertise the affair by anasuncing "dynamite speeches" had totally failed, as there were not more than 300 people present at any time of the day or evening.

A HISTORICAL BUILDING SOLD. THE OLDEST BUILDING IN THE CITY TO BE DE-STROYED-SOME POINTS IN ITS HISTORY.

THE OLDEST BUILDING IN THE CITY TO BE DESTROYED—SOME FOINTS IN ITS HISTORY.

At auction sale yesterday, Cyrus W. Field, through J. Bryant Lindley, bought the property at Broadway and Battery-place for $167,500. The building has for a long time been known as the Washington Hotel, and has historical interest as the oldest building now standing in the city. It was sold under an order of the Supreme Court in the partition suit of Drake vs. Raymond, it having been a part of the Raymond estate. It is Mr. Field's plan to remove the old land-mark and to build in its place an imposing business and office block. A month or more ago he bought a piece of property adjoining the old hotel from the Astor's. This, with his purchase of yesterday, gives him a lot of ground 56 feet and 2 inches in Broadway, and 171 feet and 11 inches in Battery Place, and 56 feet in Greenwich-st. On it he will erect a building ten stories high, of Milwaukee brick, with stone trimmings. It is to be fire-proof throughout. He said yesterday, as a comment on the tendency to build high into the air, that he had declined an offer to rent the eigth, ninth and tenth stories for hotel purposes. It would be'a unique hotel, he added, with its lowest floor eight stories from the ground.

The old house, which will have to give way to this modern improvement, was built in 1742. Previous to that time the site had been occupied by a tavern which had been built was a copy of that of the British embassador at Lisbon, and all its plans were sent here from the Portuguese capital. KING'S COUNTY PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

In his annual report of the condition of the Kings County Lunatic Asylum, in Flatoush, Dr. James C. Shaw, resident physician, shows that by the statistics of each five years from 1860 to 1880, the percentage of insane persons to the population of the county decreased from thirty-eight per cent to twenty-nine per cent. The death rate in the asylum decreased from twelve to 5.7 per cent in the same time, and the number of persons primarily incurable increased, rendering the total number of persons to be cared for, according to the population greater. While commending recent action of the Board of Supervisors in providing two small buildings to accommodate some of the patients now overcrowding the Asylum, Dr. Shaw shows the need of still more room. He also urges that more land should be secured, in order that curable patients can have work and out-door exercise. The report shows that the water supply is defective, and no sufficient means exist for extinguishing a fire, should one gain any headway in the building, crowded with upward of 1,000 insane persons. One of the needs of the Asylum set forth by Dr. Shaw is cheap pictures to adorn the walls, and he asks persons who can give them to do so. The system of non-restraint, began a few years ago, by Dr. Shaw in burning up all straitjackets has gone so far that he now leaves the doors of the lower halls open, allowing the patients afflicted mildly to go in and out from the grounds as they choose.

The statistics appended to the report show that hoose.

The statistics appended to the report show that

The statistics appended to the report show that the total number of persons in the Asylum on August 1, 1880, was 796; admitted in the year up to July 31, 1881, 428; discharged, 269; died, 87; number now in the Asylum, 868. One person not insane was sent to the Asylum.

The annual report of the Kings County Hospital, made by Dr. P. L. Schenck, who resigned the office of resident physician on August 1, shows that 3,940 patients were attended in the year ending on August 1. Or these, 300 had smallpox and 89 died from it.

Warden Murray, of the Kings County Ahushouse, reports that 3,255 persons were cared for in the year, of whom 673 remain. Twenty-six ran away, preferring to tramp rather than live on almshouse fare. The average cost for each immate was $62. The warden urges that there should be some adequate mean-provided for putting out of fires in the almshouse for women, and safeguards against loss of life.

THE TROUBLES AT ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH. The action of Bishep Loughlin, of the Brooklyn Diocess of the Roman Catholic Church, in threaten-ing communication against the months. Diocess of the Roman Catholic Church, in threatening excommunication against the members of 81. Anthony's Church who continue the legal proceedings to compel the Bishop to make a financial accounting, resulted in a very small attendance at the services of the church on Sunday. One of the members of the Law Committee says that many of the communicants attended services in other Roman Catholic churches near by. The legal proceedings are continuing, he said. He laughed at the idea of the Bishop excommunicating any of the members for the legal action under way. Under the rules of the church, he said, there was authority for the Bishop to excommunicate for attempting to wrest church property from the Bishop, and for interfering with church discipline and the Bishop's right to manage the church property. As none of these things had been done by any member of St. Anthony's Church, he could not excommunicate them. All that had been done was simply to ask where the money subscribed and paid to the church had gone. This information the members thought they were entitled to, and it was such as no just and honest man would conceal. The action of the Bishop in denouncing and threatening the members was regarded as silly and foolish by most Roman Catholics. The only thing he could do was to interdict the church and close its doors. But there are she good and sufficient reason for this, or he would be amenable to his superiors.

cient reason for this, or he would be amenable to his superiors.

Three of the members of the Law Committee, Dr. T. H. Gallagher, J. F. Lynagh and another, have resigned since the Bishop fulminated his threat. Their places were promptly filled by the selection of John McGuinness, P. F. McBorren and James Waish. A petition to the Supreme Court, in the matter of the finances, has been prepared and signed, and will be presented this week.

THE RUMORS OF DR. TANNER'S DEATH.

The report of the death of Dr. Tanner, the faster, at Amsterdam, which has been published in the London papers and cabled to this country, is not confirmed by anything which can be learned in this city. Dr. R. A. Gunu, who had charge of Dr. Tanner's fast in this city, and who is his confidential friend, said yesterday regarding the matter:

"Thave not heard from Dr. Tanner since the middle of July, when I received a letter from him, saying that he was about to begun negotiations with the Neuralogical Society to engage in a fast for ninety days under its charge. The published account of his alteged death seems to have a general air of fiction. In the first place, there is no Mrs. Tanner, and he has no children. He once thought of going to Amsterdam, but he gave up the idea, because he thought it would not pay: but if he had gone thence, I have papers which he would wish to take with him. Another thing would almost conclusively show that either some one has impersonated Dr. Tanner, or else the story is without any foundation; it is stated that the body only weighed one hundred and eight pounds, while at the time of the Griscom fast in Chicago, he weighed one hundred and sevent, pounds. This would make his decrease in weight greater than during the time of his fast. These, and other facts of a private nature, convince me of the falsity of the report." THE RUMORS OF DR. TANNER'S DEATH.

DROWNING WHILE LASHED TO A BOAT. DROWNING WHILE LASHED TO A BOAT.

The drowning of William Chainers, who for nearly fifty years had been a ship broker at No. 167 Maiden-lane, was reported in The Tribune yesterday. Mr. Chalmers was seventy years old and lived in Woodside, N. J. He had been bluefishing on Sunday in the sloop yacht Mabel Emma, his companions being Henry Hastings, Charles Jackson, Norman Rhodes, John B. Simouson and David Tyrrell. When opposite East Rockaway Inlet the sloop was carried upon the bar by the tide and a heavy wave. Before it could be got off the sand, another wave overturned it. None of the men were good enough swimmers to venture to let go of the vessel, so all but Mr. Chalners clung to the shrouds. Hun, because of his age and weakness, they lashed to the shrouds as high as they could, but the waves breaking on him drowned him. Captain John Brower, of Woodsburg, saved the other men, at great risk to himself, by going to their rescue in a catboat.

IRVING HALL GENERAL COMMITTEE.

The Irving Hall General Committee will meet to-morrow evening at Irving Hall to organize formaily. Permanent officers will be elected and a plat-form put forth embodying the aims of the new organiza-tion in this city. Although this is the third Democratic organization in this city, the leaders cay that they will make its influence felt in the coming campaign. It will complicate matters in the heavy Democratic As-sembly Districts. Ontside of these its influence, it is thought, will not amount to much. HOME NEWS.
